Numb. 777.

Containing the freshest Advices, Foreign and Domestick.

From MONDAY March 20th, to MONDAY March 27th, 1749.

WHITEHALL, December 27.

THE King has been pleased to constitute and appoint George Dunk Earl of Halifax, Robert Herbert, John Pitt, Baptist Leveson Gower, James Greenville, Esqrs. Thomas Hay, Esq; commonly called Lord Viscount Dupplin, and Francis Fane, Esq; together with Sir Thomas Robinson, Knight of the Bath, in the Room of Richard Plummer, Esq; to be Commissioners for Trade and Plantations.

London, December 27. The Russians are to continue in Bohemia 'till the Month of March next, on account of the Roads being impracticable in Poland, and during their Stay there, they are allowed double Pay, by the Maritime Powers, besides a Quantity of Bread every Day, and a certain Proportion of Corn.

By a Letter from Calais we have an Account, that one of the Packets was cast away in the late Storm, in which was Mr. Jackson, one of his Majesty's Messengers, who swam safe to Shore, and afterwards had the Resolution to swim to the Wreck, and take out his Portmanteau, in which were his Dispatches.

From the Paris-a-la-Main, January 3.

'It's generally look'd upon here as a certain Fact that the Evacuation of the conquer'd Places is supended for some Days, and the Cause of it is attributed to the Empress Queen's refusing to restore to the Duke of Modena the Pretensions he has to certain Territories in Hungary; or, as others say, our Court is willing to keep a few Towns as Hostages for the Evacuation of G—b—t—r and P—h—n.

London, Dec 29. The Marquis de Mirepoix, Lieutenant-General of the French King's Armies, and Knight of his Orders, is appointed Ambassador to this Court.

They write from Vienna, that Prince Charles of Lorrain, together with a select Number of Field Marshals in her Imperial Majesty's Service, have at present under their Consideration the properest Method of removing the Obstacles that have hitherto retarded the carrying the new military Regulation into Execution. It seems her Imperial Majesty is equally desirous of giving Ease to her Subjects, and of shewing her great Regard for those brave Men who have served her with so much Zeal and Fidelity during the Course of the War. The keeping up a large Number of these loyal and well-disciplined Troops, will prove a constant Security to her Hereditary Dominions, and leave no Reason to apprehend any sudden Attempt to make a new Alteration in the Balance of Power in Europe.

London, Dec. 31. We are credibly inform'd, that though the Definitive alias Indefinitive Treaty, went down very well in the Lump, in dutiful Complaisance to the Th——; an Endeavour, at least, will be made some Time before the Close of the next Month, to promote An Enquiry into the Reason of some Articles of it; and, in particular, that a certain Great Of——r of St—e will be questioned, How it came to pass that the G—t S—l of G— B—— was put to an Instrument, which contains so ignominious a Stipulation as that for the sending of Host—s from the K—g of G——t B——n and F——e, to the Fr—h K—g?

We are also inform'd, that private Enquiry has already been made, by the highest single Authority, how it happens that so many Complaints still exist, and have been crowded upon the R—l P—n, in regard to the Distribution of Prize Money; That this Affair has, in the Consequences of it, already occasioned some warm Disputes between certain Great Men; and that it is not unlikely that the Particulars of those Disputes will in a short Time become public, to the no great Honour of some who were concerned in them.

The States of the Dutchy of Courland have actually assembled, with an Intention to proceed without Delay to the Choice of a new Duke; which is look'd upon as the critical Point with respect to the Affairs of the North.

Extract of a Letter from Brussels, dated January 2, N.S.

The Evacuation of the Netherlands is at last quite settled by the respective Commissaries, by an ulterior Convention; according to which Tirlemont, with all the Towns on the Demer and the Two Nethes, are to be evacuated the 4th Instant; Louvain, the Towns on the Dyle, and Mechlin, the 7th; Brussels Vilvorden, Wallood Brabant, and Dutch Flanders, the 10th; Dendermond, Aloft, and the Towns along the Dender, as far as Lessines, the 15th; Ghent, Bruges, and Maestricht, the 19th; Ossend, Oudenard, and Tournay, the 24th; Courtray, Menin, Furnes, and Nieuport, the 27th; Namur and Ypres, the 30th: But we find it has been stipulated, that Mons, Aeth, Charleroy, and St. Ghislain, as also all Austrian Hainault, shall not be deliver'd up to the Troops of the Empress-Queen 'till she agrees to restore the Lordship of Arraz in Hungary, with all its Dependancies, or gives the Duke of Modena an Equivalent, or some Indemnification, for the same: Besides which, the Sums which the Genoese had in the Bank of Vienna, and were confiscated on Account of the late Quarrel between that Republic and the Austrians, must be restor'd, the Infant Don Philip must be put in Possession of all the Allodial Effects of the House of Guastalla; and, in fine the Abbot of St. Hubert must likewise be previously reinstated in all the Rights and Prerogatives which he lays Claim to. Tho' the Court of Vienna is bound, by the XIVth Article of the Definitive Treaty, to restore the Sums above mentioned, with Interest, from the Day of the Ratifications; yet the Genoese, considering that Paper Security is a mere Cobweb in such Cases, and that the War has cost them above 100,000,000 of Livres, besides the Desolation of their Country, the Interruption of their Commerce, and the total Ruin of many Families, who were the Ornament and Support of the State; have strongly insisted, that the Low-Countries should not be entirely evacuated 'till the Clause in their Favour in the Definitive Treaty is executed.

Antwerp, Jan. 6. We hear that the Congress of Aix-la-Chapelle is to be transfer'd to this City, and this Day a House was hir'd for M. du Theil, the French Plenipotentiary. In a Day or two we expect the Count Kaunitz, and 'tis not doubted but we shall likewise shortly see Ministers from Great-Britain, the States General, and the other Courts, who, it seems, are to meet again, and try their wonderful Talents at cobbling of Peaces, or weaving definitive Treaties.

Paris, Jan. 3. The Squadron equipp'd at Brest is still in that Port, not is it known when it will put to Sea. A Report prevail'd that it was destin'd to transport the Troops that are to be sent to take Possession of Cape-Breton; but this was asserted without any Foundation, for that Island is to be deliver'd up to the Troops that are in Canada.

We continue building new Men of War in the Ports of this Kingdom, and 'tis confidently asserted, that upwards of Twenty Millions of Livres will be expended on the Marine, the Funds being already found; and they likewise say, that Orders have been issued for recruiting and compleating all the old Corps of the King's Troops.

Our Nobility and Gentry vye with each other in Civilities to the English Hostages, all studying how to make them pass their Time here in as agreeable a Manner as possible, as nothing could be more agreeable to the Nation, than the Occasion of serving them higher.

London, Jan. 3. We have an Account from Berlin, That his Prussian Majesty has received a long Report from the Persons appointed to inspect the Sea Coasts of his Dominions, which has determined him to make several Improvements in respect to the old Ports, and in case it appears as practical as they have represented it, to open some new ones. By

By private Letters from Bruſſels, dated January 6, we have an Account, that the Arrival there of an Expreſs from Paris had occaſioned abundance of ſtrange Reports, that it was generally believ'd an Order was come for ſuſpending the Evacuation of ſome of the conquer'd Places; and that it was alſo reported, a kind of new Congreſs would be ſhortly open'd at Antwerp, in order to remove the Difficulties that have lately intervened. Theſe Letters likewiſe ſay, that there were many other flying Rumours, which diſcreet People looked upon as mere Inventions; but that, however it was ſtrongly affirmed, that new Magazines were to be formed.

London, Jan. 7. The Officers of the Men of War which are to act as Guard-ſhips on our Coaſts, are order'd to repair on board their reſpective Ships.

It's ſaid there are Letters from Madrid which mention, that a new Duty had been laid upon all Goods of the Manufacture of Great-Britain imported into Spain.

All the Letters from Hamburgh and Berlin are ſo ambiguous or ſo contradictory, that there is no knowing what to make of them; only thus much is very certain, that if the Peace of the North outlaſts the preſent Spring, ſeveral Powers not in that Quarter only, but in other Parts of Europe, have been at vaſt Expences to very little Purpoſe; and yet the Thing is not at all impoſſible, nor will it be the firſt Time that certain unforeſeen Strokes of Providence have defeated the deepeſt laid Deſigns of profound Politicians.

A PROPHECY for the Year 1749.

IF L*'s Aldermen ſhall all agree;
If Conſcience dictate Voice, Corruption free;
If P——ll's Bridge without a Blemiſh ſtand;
If Marlb'ro's Genius ſhine in **********;
If France in Faith grows punctually exact;
As Sov'reign of the Seas if England act;
If Vice deſert the Folks of high Condition;
If Honeſty cement the Coalition;
For Merit only if C* Honours wait;——
Then Forty-nine may not repent of Eight:
But if theſe Its no Conſequence ſhould follow,
Our Solid Peace will certainly prove Hollow.

London, January 3. As there is Reaſon, from the uncommon Moderation of the natural Seaſon, that the Locuſts, which came over towards the End of laſt Summer, will increaſe and multiply, to the Deſtruction of our Herbage, in the Summer next approaching; ſo we are informed, that the Moderation of the political Seaſon (which we cannot ſay indeed is uncommon) has given the Min——l Locuſts the moſt inſolent Hopes with reſpect to their own Security, and their Triumph over that Part of the Conſtitution which renders them accountable to the People.——But as a Pinch may yet come in the Weather, and remove the Apprehenſions of our Naturaliſts with regard to the above mentioned noxious Inſects; Why ſhould we not hope that a P——y Pinch will lower the Creſts that are now ſo elate, and ſhew the Vermin of St.——, the Betrayers of their Country's Intereſt and Honour, that the great C——l of the Nation can properly reſent the Neglect of its Advice (for the Taking of which, Precedents are ſo numerous) in Matters of ſuch Importance as have lately been tranſacted to our eternal Diſ——e?

By Letters from Madrid we find, that one of the firſt ſteps taken by the King of Spain to eaſe his Subjects, ſince the ſigning the late Treaty, is the lowering the Duty on Salt by one Half, and aboliſhing it entirely in Favour of Fiſhermen, and others employed in curing Fiſh.

According to Advices from Vienna, the Imperial Court has Reſolved to make no Reform in the Troops, though no ſuch reſolution is publickly declared.

We hear from Stockholm, that the Swediſh Ladies have of late made ſo great a Progreſs in the Sciences, and polite Literature, that the Prince Royal, who is Protector of the Academy of Sciences, has approved the Propoſal made to him for admitting Ladies into that learned Body; which will be a double Satisfaction to the Fair Sex, as the Princeſs Royal will be at the Head of them.
